The theatre strives to fulfill its mission by increasing awareness of the arts through enriching and educating students and patrons to have an appreciation of diverse, quality programming.

As the largest performance space in the city as well as on campus, we provide a venue for numerous opportunities. As an example, the Arts, Language, and Philosophy department’s performing arts section present their Choir, Band and Orchestra concerts.

Our facility serves as a place for S&T theatre students to perform and gain experience in cultural arts. The theatre is available for event rental to other departments, student organizations and community groups.

Did You Know:
In 2010-11, 135 events were hosted. Of those:
- 70% were university events, hosted by departments or student organizations
- 23% were Campus Performing Arts (CPAS) or Leach events
- 7% community events
- 14,000 student visits in 2011
- 9% increase over 2009-10

Mission
The primary purpose of Leach Theater is to provide a venue for the presentation of the performing arts to the university and local population, promoting the arts in this community.

About the Theatre
The theatre strives to fulfill its mission by increasing awareness of the arts through enriching and educating students and patrons to have an appreciation of diverse, quality programming.

As the largest performance space in the city as well as on campus, we provide a venue for numerous opportunities. As an example, the Arts, Language, and Philosophy department's performing arts section present their Choir, Band and Orchestra concerts.

Programs & Services
Leach Theatre promotes three series to bring professional performing artists into our community.

Campus Performing Arts
Consists of 7-8 performances ranging from Broadway musicals, to classical theatre performances, dance groups, classical music ensembles, orchestras and popular music concerts. Season subscription packages and free tickets to the first 75 S&T students are available.

Special Events
Special events are offered 2-3 times a year beyond the CPAS events. Comedy performances, music events or additional musicals are often brought in for this series. S&T student organizations rent the theatre for special events as well.

Family Series
Consists of three live performances geared to families and children. Family Film Festivals are hosted once a month during the school year. Four school outreach programs are presented to local schools which are often curriculum related performances.